A new fiscal relationship

The Tla'amin Nation Final Agreement represents a change in the financial relationship between Canada, British Columbia and Tla'amin. The Tla'amin Nation government will have greater autonomy and be fully accountable to Tla'amin members for financial decisions. The Tla'amin government will be accountable to Canada and British Columbia for the financial transfers it receives, so that the government that provides that funding can ensure the public funds were used for their intended purposes.

Capital transfer

The Tla'amin Nation Final Agreement will provide Tla'amin with a capital transfer of approximately $29.7 million over 10 years. Tla'amin will pay back to Canada, over the same period, the loans taken to negotiate the treaty. Tla'amin will also receive an Economic Development Fund of approximately $6.9 million and a Fishing Vessel Fund of $0.25 million.

Programs and services

Tla'amin Nation government will deliver agreed upon programs and services under the terms of a Fiscal Financing Agreement. The Fiscal Financing Agreement provides annual transfers from Canada and British Columbia to support the delivery of agreed upon programs and services by Tla'amin Nation to its members, as well as funding to support activities to implement the treaty.

Tla'amin Nation will receive one-time funding of approximately $4.6 million and ongoing funding of approximately $8.0 million in federal funds and approximately $446,000 per year in provincial funds.

For programs and services provided by Canada or British Columbia that are not included in the Fiscal Financing Agreement, Tla'amin members will continue to be able to access those programs and services for which they are eligible.
